Drive your profits

It's harder than ever to make money these days. With competition pushing prices down and factors like a tough labour market, increased taxes and legislative requirements pushing costs up. You simply can't afford a truck that further drains your profits. The DAF 95XF takes away this worry. And, in fact, actively boosts your bottom line. By reducing costs, increasing productivity and uptime, and enhancing your professional image. All in a truck that drivers will line up to drive.

profit

from lower costs

It's a matter of simple arithmetic.

Lower your operating costs and you've gone a good long way towards improving your bottom line.

The DAF 95XF series takes aim at two traditional profit gobblers: by increasing fuel efficiency and decreasing maintenance expenditures. So you reduce your costs week-in, week-out. And kilometre after kilometre.

Consume less

Fuel costs are one of profit's chief enemies, as the price per litre keeps increasing. The 95XF series' driveline technology and efficient engines are the solution, providing outstanding fuel efficiency. A gearbox featuring direct drive in top gear and a single-reduction rear axle, for example, minimise driveline power losses and fuel consumption. DAF's six-cylinder turbocharged and intercooled in-line engine pumps out the horsepower without wasting a drop. And standard and optional air management system accessories-side skirts, air dam, spoilers, etc.-make an efficient system even better.

Stay out of the shop

Repair and maintenance costs can also quickly eat through your profits. But the 95XF, by design, reduces costs in the shop. Up to a full 25%, depending on the operating profile. Thanks to DAF's high quality standards and sturdy construction, coupled with time-based maintenance scheduling and a number of low-maintenance design features. Synthetic oil also contributes, reducing oil change frequencies to once every 100,000 kilometres. It all adds up to more. As in, more money in your wallet.

profit from higher productivity

Squeeze your costs and you're part way to profit. But real revenue power, of course, depends on revenues.

On transporting more cargo.

Booking more hours. Getting cargo where it needs to go-on time and undamaged. Achieving more revenue per kilometre is a 95XF speciality.

A goal it reaches by offering the highest productivity around.

Fill it up

Fill the DAF 95XF to the top and earn more profit per trip. It can take it, thanks to the high tensile strength of its chassis. And thanks to its low kerb weight, which maximises your payload on every trip.

Pull with more power

No matter the load, DAF's 12.6-litre, high-performance engine can handle it. You get superior power over a wide engine rev band to easily handle even the heaviest loads. And for the utmost driveability as you go. Don't expect lateral movement to slow you down, either. The DAF 95XF has a superior suspension that keeps you fully in touch with load behaviour while driving, in all circumstances. And the DAF Engine Brake ensures that your load gets downhill swiftly yet safely—by finding just the right balance between speed and control.

Spend your time on the road

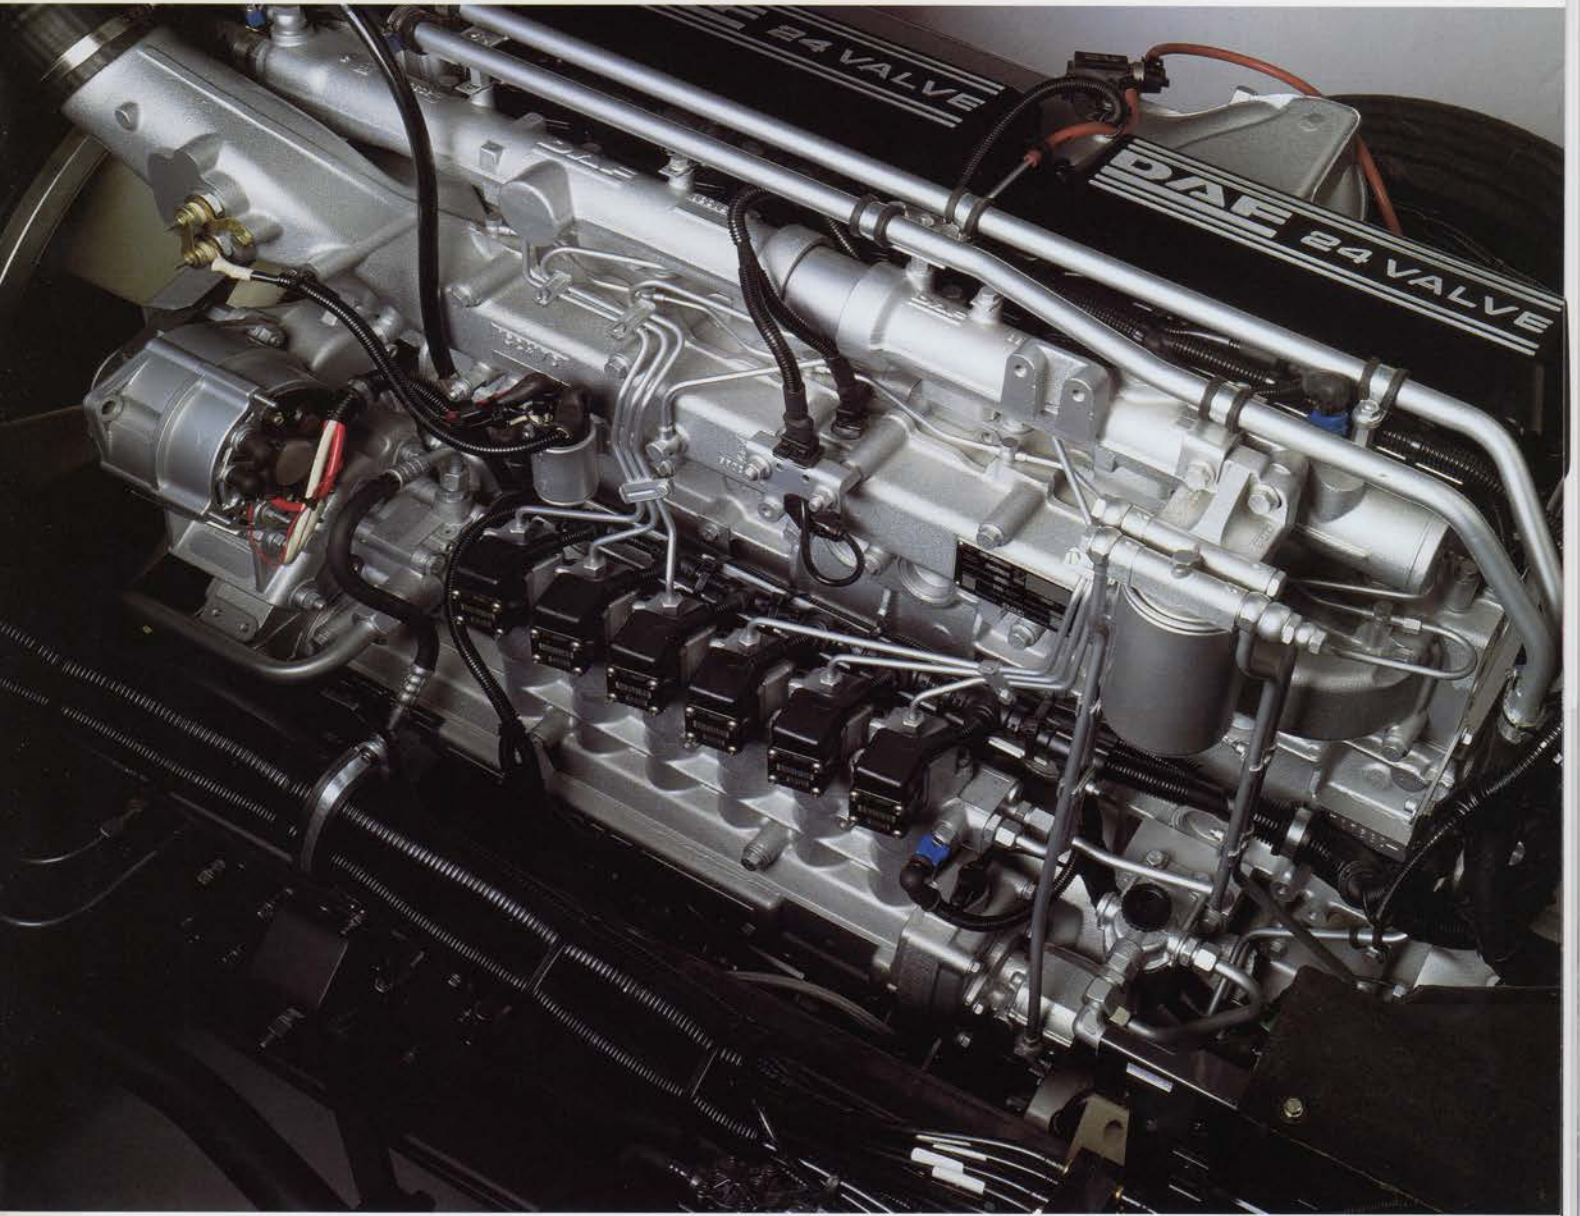

Long hauls get longer, and profits get smaller, every time you have to stop. The DAF 95XF series' simply allow you to spend more time on the road, beginning with the vehicle's inherent reliability. You'll also keep pounding out the kilometres—up to 3,000 without a fuel stop. And subtract just a few hours a year for routine maintenance. This increases your vehicle availability and, therefore, your earning potential.

Keep out of trouble

When does profit potential evaporate? When your vehicle is involved in an accident. That's one reason DAF pays so much attention to safety features. To the brakes, for example, with their high braking capacity and extreme responsiveness. To the DAF Engine Brake, which gives you more control downhill and reduces wear on your brakes. To a range of accessories: extra fog lights, wide-beam lamps, etc. And to the excellent steering performance and excellent road feel that helps drivers accurately assess road conditions and better handle the vehicle in curves and when changing lanes. All of which give them a safe, protected feeling when driving, and more control of the road—and your load.

profit from higher up time

An unreliable vehicle certainly impacts your current profits. As you watch your productivity and turnover plummet. Worse still is what it can do long term to your reputation for fast, dependable service. The intrinsic reliability of each DAF 95XF and the power of the DAF organisation combine to make sure this doesn't happen. By giving you the highest possible uptime.

Depend on the highest quality

Your business is risky enough without risking your profitability on an inferior truck. But every DAF delivers the same high quality. This is certainly true for the 95XF, but extends through the entire DAF line: the CF series for medium distance distribution and the LF series for inter-urban deliveries. DAF's rock-solid reliability is why we can confidently offer a full two-year warranty.

Support your investment

Nothing is more uncertain in transport than costs related to unexpected repair. DAF has the resources to lower your risk in this area. And the expertise to help prevent costly repairs from happening in the first place through preventive maintenance. Thanks to DAF MultiSupport, your DAF dealer can take care of all your maintenance and repairs based on your requirements for a fixed monthly payment. All of which is especially important when you're drivers and cargo are far from home.

Keep your truck rolling

Even the best truck can break down. And it usually happens at the worst possible time. Getting you back on the road quickly is crucial and that's where you can count on DAF. With DAF's International Truck Service, help is always just down the road. Available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year through a single contact number. And with all common parts on hand. So you spend less time helplessly seeing your profitability slip away and more time getting your load where it needs to go.

absorbers and stabiliser. These features, plus optionals like heaters and air conditioning, make the cabin a joy to spend the day in. More importantly, they minimise driver fatigue and maximise driver performance.

Take the stress out of driving

Driving is easier, too. The ergonomically shaped dashboard redefines the meaning of comfort and helps take the stress out of driving. Instruments and controls are easy to see, reach and handle. Treat your driver to driving an 95XF. He deserves it.

Ensure a more-alert driver

Downtime that promotes employee rest and relaxation also promotes your profits. Drivers awake refreshed, alert and ready to drive after a night on DAF's spacious and comfortable bunk. Effective heating and ventilation also contribute, as do little 'extras' such as an excellent reading lamp and built-in alarm clock. Waking hours are also a pleasure, thanks to ample storage space, logically arranged for a drawer refrigerator, coffee maker, microwave oven and other amenities. There's even a sealed off compartment for wet gear and tools that you can only reach from outside the cab, keeping the cab cleaner and more pleasant.

Few things reduce profits more than a driver that under-performs.

For example, because of a backache from driving in an uncomfortable cab. Or because of a whole night spent tossing and turning on a miserable mattress. The spacious and luxurious cabs of the DAF 95XF series maximise driver comfort during driving, living and sleeping. Thereby ensuring optimal driving performance.

Minimise driver fatigue

No need for a driver to feel squashed in a DAF 95XF. The Space Cab and Super Space Cab give him the comforts of home. He gets more room than ever. Even if he is two metres tall, he can stretch out his legs. And the adjustable steering wheel and air-suspended driver's seat allows him to choose a position that's just right. He'll experience fewer bumps along the way, too. Thanks to the excellent suspension, powerful shock

profit

from driver pride

A transport vehicle's appearance can impact your profit potential in a number of ways. Just think of how important the image is that the truck presents to the outside world. Your image. Or the way drivers respond to a truck that makes them feel proud and pampered. DAF's smart, professional look and feel help you attract and retain employees, customers-and profit.

Project a professional image

The DAF 95XF makes a highly professional impression, one that shows customers and potential customers that you're a trustworthy supplier. Its distinctive frontal appearance radiates class; its luxurious appearance confidence and pride.

Stimulate driver pride

Your drivers have a lot to do with how you're perceived in the market. So it's worth attracting and keeping the best. The DAF 95XF's great looks and comfort stimulate driver pride and contentment. So employees stay with your company and take better care of the vehicle in the bargain.

Add prestige with accessories

Enhance both your professional image and driver satisfaction with DAF high-quality, self-designed accessories.

Among the offerings:

- Chrome-plated wheel caps and wheel rings
- Smart-looking sun visors
